

Missouri Dance Hall Scene of a Holocaust

Thirty-six Known Dead, 18 Missing and Scores Hurt When Explosion Shatters Dance Hall—Fire Follows Blast Destroying Three Buildings—Cause of Explosion Not Determined.

West Plains, Mo., April 14 (AP).—A death stalked into this little Ozark city and turned a dance hall, with its merry-making throng into a holocaust.

With thirty-six known dead, rescue workers today were tearing away the debris where laughter changed to shrieks of terror as an explosion wrecked the building late last night. They were seeking fourteen persons missing and believed to have perished beneath falling walls.

Sixteen injured are in hospitals, many in a serious condition.

The cause of the explosion has not been determined. It is believed that those listed as missing may be included among the unidentified dead. Fire followed almost immediately after the explosion and destroyed three buildings before it was brought under control. Property loss was estimated between $100,000 and $150,000.

The Dead.

Paul Evans, Jr., West Plains.
Mrs. Kitty McFarland, West Plains, undertaker.
Mrs. Carl Mullins, West Plains.
J. W. Weiser, head of Weiser Motor Co., in whose building the explosion occurred.
R. G. Martin, automobile dealer, West Plains.
Charles Fisher, high school student, Ava, Mo.
John Bates, son of the Rev. J. F. D. Bates, pastor First Methodist Church, West Plains.
Seventeen unidentified bodies are in two undertaking establishments.

Blown 65 Feet.

Many of the injured were picked up on the streets far from the scene of the blast. H. C. Allen, merchant, was blown 55 feet and found with both legs broken and an arm torn off. The intense heat and total darkness caused when the power plant was damaged, hindered rescuers. Soon after the explosion the walls of the building collapsed.

Think Gas Tank Exploded.

The dance was being held on the second floor of a two-story building. The ground floor was a garage and motor car sales room. Officers today are investigating a report that a large gasoline storage tank, thought to have been under the building, was the cause of the blast.

Several score persons had just left a moving picture theatre located in the same block, and many of them, knowing that friends and relatives were attending the dance, made frantic efforts to enter the wrecked and burning structure.

Out of town residents who attended the dance were not included in the list of missing, but it was believed that many from surrounding towns would be among the victims.

Thirty to forty couples were dancing when the blast came. It was the regular Friday night dance of West Plains' younger set. Among the merry-makers were many of the prominent young men and women of West Plains.

At 11:30 the dance was at its height. The three piece orchestra was nearing "home, sweet home." Miss Dimples Martin, at the piano, was pounding out the strains of a popular melody—nobody remembers the name.

Open Garage Door, Blast Follows.
At that moment J. N. Weiser, owner of the building, opened the back door of the garage on the floor below. A motorist had called him from his home to supply some gasoline, as the garage door swung open there was the sound of a terrific explosion.

The floor of the dance hall above was lifted about to the ceiling. A moment of terrible silence followed. Then the floor crashed in fragments into a raging gasoline fire below. Into it went forms of a score of human beings who a moment before had been carefree dancers.

Some were blown through the windows and survived. Three or four were able to crawl away from the hungry flames to safety. Others were blown free of the ruins to the street below, cut and mangled, burned and bleeding.

The pianist was believed to have been killed instantly. Bail Allen, the trombone player, who was sitting next to her, was blown through a window. The third member of the orchestra is believed also to have perished.

The blast awoke sleeping farmers for a radius of three miles, and the blazing flames guided them to the scene of the disaster.

An explosion of gasoline in the garage is generally blamed for the catastrophe. Weiser was found not far from the wreckage, his hand grimly holding the doorknob of the shattered garage. Nobody seems to know what happened to the motorist.

The common belief prevails that Weiser must have lighted a match in the fumes of escaping gasoline.

Dance Tonight at Accord.

The regular weekly dance will be held this evening at the Community Hall, Accord. The public is invited to attend. Music by Malsenholder's orchestra.

Albert Kurdt New Ulster Farm Bureau Manager

Present Manager For Seneca County Unanimously Selected To Fill Vacancy Caused By The Resignation of F. M. Wigsten.

Albert Kurdt, present Farm Bureau Manager for Seneca county, has been unanimously selected by the board of directors of the Ulster County Farm Bureau to fill the vacancy caused by the resignation of F. M. Wigsten who resigned to accept a position with the Central Hudson Gas and Electric Company. Mr. Kurdt, a young man of 25, has had considerable experience in general farm work, spray service work and also in the dairy line. He will take over the work in Ulster county on April 20.

Mr. Kurdt was unanimously selected by the seven members of the board of directors present at a meeting on March 24 at which time four applications were considered. P. H. Allen, manager of the Sullivan county Farm Bureau, L. P. Hamm, connected with the office of Prof. Bristow Adams at Ithaca and Richard B. Mihalco, manager of the Rockland County Farm Bureau, were the other three applicants who were interviewed by the board.

Mr. Kurdt is a graduate of the State College at Ithaca and has had considerable practical experience. His qualifications particularly adapt him for the position as manager of the Ulster County Farm Bureau. In Ulster county the farming industry is so diversified that a general knowledge is necessary not only of general farming, but of the dairy interests, poultry business and fruit growing as well.

Arrangements were made whereby Mr. Kurdt will take over the work here on April 20 and Mr. Wigsten will remain for a time until Mr. Kurdt has become familiar with the program of work which is being carried out in this county.

GAIRMANT WORKER WHO RAN AMUCK IN FACTORY DIES

Troy, N. Y., April 14 (AP).—Marderos Bedrossian, who ran amuck in a local factory Thursday noon, shooting two persons and creating a panic among girl workers, died today in a hospital from wounds he inflicted upon himself before the arrival of police.

Bedrossian, suffering under the delusion that several factory employees meant to harm him, fired the revolver several times. Two shots struck Harold Hughes, a visitor to the factory, and John Chaloux, an employee, and a third grazed John J. Shea, proprietor of the plant. Chaloux remains in a critical condition, but Hughes is recovering.

PRINCE CHARLES PHILIPPE AND MISS WATSON WED

London, April 14 (AP).—Prince Charles Philippe, Duc de Nemours, and Miss Marguerite Watson of Washington and Newport, R. I., were married in London today.

Miss Watson was born in Richmond, Va., and has lived in Paris for a number of years. Her engagement to the late Reginald Vanderbilt was rumored in 1913, but later was broken.

The Duke is the only son of the Duke and Duchess of Vendome. His mother is a cousin of King Albert of Belgium.

ELLENVILLE TO HAVE NEW FIRE ALARM SYSTEM

The firemen of Ellenville will soon be able to abandon their game of hide and seek when responding to an alarm. The village trustees have contracted for the installation of a fire alarm system whereby the village will be marked out in districts each with its own individual fire alarm number. In the past the sirens have simply announced a fire. In the future the siren will also announce the particular district where the fire is located. The new system will be purchased at a cost of $600.

Compensation Hearing

Referee L. A. Kilburn will be at the court house in this city on Monday, April 16, hearing claimants for compensation for loss of time by illness or injury sustained by reason of their employment.

Gospel Crusaders To Meet

The regular meeting of the Gospel crusaders will be held at the Y. M. C. A. Sunday afternoon at 3:00. All are invited to attend.

Plan All-Irish Atlantic Flight

Irish Free State Officials Proud of Native Son's Accomplishment—Promotion Awaits Fitzmaurice—Wife Hopes Stunt Flying is Ended.

Dublin, Irish Free State, April 14 (AP).—"I am the happiest and proudest woman in the world," Mrs. James Fitzmaurice said today when all doubts as to her husband's safety had been removed and the success of the Bremen's flight established.

"I was confident all the time that he would get there," she continued. "He has achieved his life's ambition. For ten years he has been talking of flying the Atlantic."

"He won't do any more flying. If I can help it. I mean he won't do any more stunt flying of that kind." Commandant Fitzmaurice will be promoted to colonel in the Saorstad Army for his part in the flight. The Associated Press learned today from a reliable source.

Plans are also being made for an all-Irish transatlantic flight to be undertaken next year.

"This year a plane got to the Gulf of St. Lawrence, next year one will go clear to New York," an air corps official said.

Ireland was swept by emotion as it had not been since the days of civil warfare while it awaited news of the fate of the Bremen and its crew. It was three o'clock this morning here before confirmation of the plane's landing at Greenly Island arrived. Then only the highest government officials, President Cosgrave, Governor General McNeill, Mrs. Fitzmaurice and Fitz's flying companions at Baldonnel definitely knew of the Irish airman's safety.

President Cosgrave was called from his bed to be told it and sent the following message through The Associated Press:

"We are very glad that three brave men landed safely. We are very proud that the first successful attempt to cross the Atlantic westward should have been made from Baldonnel and that a commandant of the Irish Air Force should be associated in the great enterprise."

Baby Whale Wins Race on Hudson

New York, April 14 (AP).—Baby Whale, tiny outboard motorcraft weighing but 120 pounds and only 14 feet long, won the 123 mile race down the Hudson river from Albany to New York today, making the run in four hours and 47 minutes.

The bobbing craft was driven by Kirk Ames, New York sportsman.

Thirty-four of the little speedsters started the race from Albany this morning for a prize of $500. The run was the longest ever attempted by outboard motorcraft. Baby Whale, of Class C register, was equipped with a 16 horse power motor, her average speed being 23.7 miles per hour. Water conditions were smooth, due to a steady rain fall. No stops were made en route.

The first of the outboard motorboats passed Kingston Point at 7:50 o'clock and shortly after 11 o'clock about twenty of the boats had passed Kingston Point on the way down the river. There were a large number of enthusiastic boatmen gathered at the Rondout Yacht Club and along the Hudson River Day Line pier, who waited in the rain storm to watch the passing of the boats. The whir of the motors as the boats passed Kingston Point was plainly heard in the central part of the city.

DRY ADVOCATES LOSE. SMITH GETS DELEGATES

Detroit, April 14 (AP).—Indications that Governor Smith of New York will receive the unqualified support of Michigan's 39 delegates to the Democratic National Convention were seen today in the collapse of a party insurrection started by a group of dry advocates.

At the various county conventions held yesterday to select delegates to the state convention at Port Huron, May 9, Smith opposition failed to materialize. Instead the New York governor's presidential candidacy was unanimously endorsed.

Women leaders at Grand Rapids, who supported the late Senator Woodbridge W. Ferris, dry advocate, in opposition to Smith, after failing to make a showing in their county caucus, remained silent at the county meeting yesterday. The delegates at the Grand Rapids meeting pledged their support to Smith.

BREMEN'S SISTER PLANE NOT TO ATTEMPT RELIEF

Mitchel Field, N. Y., April 14 (AP).—The Junkers sister plane of the Bremen will fly neither to Greenly Island nor to Washington. It was decided today, but will wait at New York the arrival of the transatlantic fliers.

Miss Herta Junkers, representative of her father's company which built both monoplanes, said that uncertain weather and landing conditions made it inadvisable to attempt to fly the F-13 to the relief of the stranded aviators.

The active cooperation of the Canadian government in sending a steamer to the lonely island, she said, had made unnecessary a projected flight to Washington to consult government officials. The plane was returned to its Curtiss Field hangar today.

Napanoch Inmate Broke Into Store And Changed Suit

Army and Navy Store at Broadway and Cornell Street Entered During Night—Intruder Had Escaped From Napanoch—Left His Uniform In Store.

Lying on the floor of the Army and Navy store at Broadway and Cornell street this morning was the uniform worn by an inmate of the institution for Defective Delinquents at Napanoch, while clothing, taken from the store stock, was missing. Shortly after 4 o'clock this morning Policeman Leonard telephoned into police headquarters that the store had been entered some time during the night. Entrance had been obtained by breaking a window on the Cornell street side of the store.

Later police headquarters got in touch with the Napanoch authorities and were informed that one Clayton Christensen, 17, had made his escape from that institution. It is evident that Clayton had made his way to Kingston and while walking on Broadway decided it was safer to change his clothes than to wear the uniform of the institution.

He experienced no difficulty in breaking into the Army and Navy store and helped himself to what clothes he desired from the large stock carried. He then undressed and changed into his new clothes. He made one mistake, however, for instead of wrapping his old clothes up in a bundle and taking them with him he left them behind in the store.

Clayton is described as being 5 feet 10½ inches in height, with blue eyes, brown hair and weighing 160 pounds. A general alarm was sent out and the railroad stations covered, but no man answering that description had been seen boarding any trains leaving the city.

It is presumed that Clayton after dressing himself in new clothes had then left the store and walked out of the city.

MRS. SCHOONMAKER IS FOUND DEAD FROM GAS

Deliaah, wife of Joseph Schoonmaker, was found dead from gas Friday shortly after noon by her husband when he came home for dinner. Mr. Schoonmaker was about the house at 79 Prospect street during the morning apparently in her usual good spirits, but when her husband came home he missed her and upon investigation found her in the cellar dead from gas poisoning. She had affixed a tube to the gas jet.

Dr. L. E. Sanford was called and Coroner Conner was notified. Dr. Sanford on his arrival found that there was nothing he could do, death having come some time prior to the discovery of the body. The body was taken in charge by Undertaker William C. Kukuk.

Mrs. Schoonmaker was born at Accord. Beside her husband she is survived by a son J. Howard Schoonmaker of Springfield, Mass., a daughter, Mrs. Arthur Markle of Hurley, three sisters, Mrs. Uriah Heideich of Kerhonkson, Mrs. George Osterhout of White Plains, and Mrs. J. Sherwood of Ossining.

Funeral services Monday afternoon at 3 o'clock from the late residence.

WASHINGTON LINES UP FOR GOVERNOR SMITH

Spokane, Wash., April 14 (AP).—Washington Democracy today lined up in growing columns of delegations pledged to the nomination of Governor Alfred E. Smith for the Presidency.

In a state convention here yesterday that from the start was overwhelmingly in favor of the New York governor's candidacy, the issue was decided after a period of oratory and a roll call on a proposal to bind the delegation to cast their 14 votes as a unit for Smith in the coming national convention.

Eight delegates-at-large, each with half a vote, and ten district delegates had been named previously, and of this number but two were regarded as opponents of Governor Smith's Presidential aspirations. Of these, one was U. S. Senator C. C. Dill, who maintained silence throughout the convention. He previously had declared himself in opposition to Smith as the national standard bearer.

PREDICT SNOW AND GALES FOR WESTERN NEW YORK

Buffalo, April 14 (AP).—Freezing temperatures, with snow and gales, will hit western New York tomorrow, the weather bureau predicted today.

Colder weather and strong winds, the bureau said, will be the result of an area of low pressure which was moving over southern Michigan today.

Two days of raw, cold weather is expected.

WEATHER OUTLOOK FOR COMING WEEK

North and middle Atlantic states—A period of rains Tuesday or Wednesday and again toward the end of the week. Cool most of the week, with cold spell Wednesday or Thursday.

Can't Use Planes To Reach Bremen

Weather Conditions and Uncertainty Concerning Water and Ice Block Attempts in Canada to Send Plane to Greenly Island.

Montreal, Que., April 14 (AP).—Weather conditions and lack of transportation facilities stopped every effort on the part of the Dominion government, newspapers and individuals, to get into communication with the three flyers of the Bremen on Greenly Island.

Efforts by the Canadian Press to charter an airplane in Quebec or the maritime provinces of Canada to make the trip to the island were unavailing.

"Our machines are laid up for the present," it was declared by the aviation concerns, "on account of the impracticable landing conditions."

While an airplane may land safely on water in one section of the country, it may have to alight at a take off from another district by means of either skis or wheels. Flying, until the last few days, was carried on with ski-fitted planes, but there is no snow-covered territory in the vicinity of Belle Isle on which a machine so fitted, could alight. In some cases it is even impossible to risk a take off from ice-covered lakes, due to the imminent danger of a break-up. For the same reason it is impossible to fit floats or pontoons, as there is no water area from which a seaplane could rise. The same applies to flying boats, which, at the present time, are laid up for the winter.

Thus, it has been proved almost impossible to leave immediately for the scene of the Bremen's landing. Plans will likely be made to prepare a machine suitable for the work, but it must be a flying boat or seaplane to reach, with any degree of possibility, the Strait of Belle Isle.

Another consideration for any pilot who should venture forth on the 873 miles flight to Point Amour is that of gas supply. There is no gasoline cache in the vicinity of Belle Isle, which is 873 miles from Montreal.

Germany Makes No Demonstration

Shows Serene Satisfaction and Pride On Learning That German-Irish Flyers Are Safe—Mrs. Koehl Shielded from Inquiries.

Berlin, April 14 (AP).—Mrs. Herman Koehl, wife of Captain Koehl, co-pilot of the Bremen, received the news of the flyers' safe landing with gratification this morning.

After remarking that a load had been lifted from her mind she and her mother retired. They implored the ministry of posts, telephones and telegraphs to shield them from inquiries so they might enjoy a needed sleep.

To all attempting to call "Suederling 2899," telephone girls were instructed to reply: "The subscriber wishes not to be disturbed." Germans, retiring in anxiety over the plane's fate, found themselves still in suspense on opening the morning papers since these contained no final news of the Bremen's whereabouts. They had no recourse except calling up the newspaper offices.

The telephone in the Berlin bureau of the Associated Press was kept continually busy not only from Berlin callers but from outside points such as Munich.

While the German news agencies flashed the news of the plane's arrival to all subscribing papers about 3 a. m., German time, these papers failed to issue extra editions with but one exception.

When, therefore, Zwölf Uhr Blatt (the twelve o'clock news) appeared at 9 a. m., with the first details of the landing it had an unprecedented sale.

There was no demonstration. The news was received with serene satisfaction and pride in the accomplishment of a German machine and German-Irish flying skill. There was none of that boisterous hilarity of the night before when the plane was erroneously reported to have landed at Mitchell Field as it was realized that the Bremen had been driven far off her course.

PRESIDENT COOLIDGE SENDS CONGRATULATIONS

Washington, April 14 (AP).—President Coolidge sent through the Navy radio today a message of congratulations to the crew of the Bremen.

"My most hearty congratulations upon your safe landing after your fine westward flight across the North Atlantic," he said.

London Records Distant Quake

London, April 14 (AP).—A violent earthquake was recorded at Kew Observatory at 9:44 o'clock this morning. The epicenter was estimated to be 1,420 miles away, probably near the western coast of the Black Sea.

The disturbance was of about the same intensity as that produced by the destructive quake of March 31 near Smyrna.

Constantinople Shaken

Constantinople, April 14 (AP).—A slight earthquake was felt in Constantinople at 11:15 o'clock this morning and a more violent shock was felt in the surrounding country. No casualties had been reported this afternoon.

New York Plans Great Welcome

Men Prominent in Aviation Hailed the Feat as a Distinct Triumph—New York's Millions Stirred.

New York, April 14 (AP).—Stirred as they had not been since Colonel Charles A. Lindbergh flew to Paris nearly a year ago, New York's millions today were planning such a welcome as only he received when the crew of the Bremen finally reach the city.

Since Thursday morning, when the news came that Captain Koehl, Colonel Fitzmaurice and Baron Von Huenfeld had hopped off from Dublin for New York, enthusiasm had been steadily mounting. When word came that the three flyers had landed safely at Greenly Island the whole city joined in the tumult of thanksgiving.

"I knew they'd make it," was the cry, reflecting the spirit of optimism that had prevailed throughout the long, anxious hours.

Even when the deadline beyond which the plane could not have remained in the air neared, this spirit of optimism did not weaken. From Mayor James J. Walker, who was playing a "hunch" that all was well, to the newsboys in the streets the feeling ran that the flight was going to be successful.

Men prominent in aviation hailed the feat as a distinct triumph.

"A splendid venture, and considering the tremendous odds, a great achievement in the annals of flying," Commander Richard E. Byrd said.

"My hat is off to them," said Floyd Bennett, Commander Byrd's pilot on his flight to the North Pole. "I'm sorry they didn't make New York, but in reaching the coast of Labrador they did what no man has done before them."

Herni Belchen, who was with Byrd on his flight to France from New York last summer, called it a "great job." "They had everything against them," he said. "It is one thing to fly from west to east with good summer weather, but another thing entirely to have a big head wind all the way."

"I think the flight of the Bremen is the most remarkable ever made," Charles A. Levine said.

Miss Herta Junkers, official representative in this country for the company which built the Bremen, never lost her faith that the big plane would win through.

"I know they will make it," she repeated over and over to questioners, as she waited all day at Mitchell Field with a sister ship of the Bremen ready to take the air to welcome the flyers and guide them safely to their destination.

A tall, pale, energetic woman of 28, she has worked beside her father in his laboratories for fifteen years. She had been up since 4 o'clock in the morning and when the news was received slipped away.

Josef Koehl, an uncle of the German captain and Eugene Zimmer, a cousin, both waited at the field until the news came from Greenly Island. Professor Koehl expressed the hope that the flight would tend to cement the cordial relations between Germany and the United States.

Several hundred persons still remained at Mitchell Field, of the estimated 20,000 that had been there during the day, to hear the good news.

ROUND-THE-WORLD FLYERS AT MARSEILLES

Paris, April 14 (AP).—Havas, the French news agency, today reported the arrival of Dieudonne Costes and Joseph LeBrix, French round-the-world aviators, at Marseilles at 1:09 p. m.

The fliers expected to continue to Paris where an enthusiastic welcome awaits them.

Broke Leg in Fall

Miss Anna Bruck fell in her home Friday night and broke her leg. She was conveyed to the Benedictine Hospital in the ambulance. Miss Bruck makes her home with her sister, Mrs. Michael M. Kelsch, 29 Hone street.

Secures Position.

Miss Ethel Genthner, of the short-hand department of Spencer's Business School, 237-39 Fair street, has been placed in a desirable position as stenographer and typist at the Wildmere House, Minnewaska, N. Y.

Quebec, Que., April 14 (AP).—The transatlantic monoplane Bremen wandered about the skies lost in a dense fog for four hours before it made a forced landing on a small lake on Greenly Island, according to the first details of the landing.

A message was received shortly before noon today by the Dominion government telegraph service saying that the landing was made at 5:30 o'clock yesterday afternoon (presumably Newfoundland time which would make it 4 o'clock eastern standard time).

The message said that at first it was believed the damage to the plane was slight and early this morning the aviators intended to make repairs and continue to New York. On inspection however, the damages were found to be more serious and it was believed that the Bremen would not be able to take off for several days.

Despite the strain of the four hours groping about in the fog and the forced landing all the fliers were said to be in excellent condition.

Plane Off For Greenly Island

A plane piloted by Dr. Louis Custiner left Murray Bay, Quebec, at 11 a. m., to day for Greenly Island, where it was expected to arrive in five hours. It was his hope to bring back the crew of the Bremen tomorrow. A second transatlantic airways plane will leave for the island tomorrow.

These planes were built especially for the winter air mail service on the north shore of the St. Lawrence river. They are fitted for landing only on ice or snow, being equipped with skis and without pontoons or wheels. It was believed here that the Bremen had landed on an ice field.

New York, April 14 (AP).—Having made the first non-stop airplane flight across the north Atlantic from east to west, the crew of the German-Junkers monoplane Bremen was safe today on lonely icebound Greenly Island, Quebec, in the Straits of Belle Isle, off Labrador.

Any flier there may have been in the quest of fame at the risk of death on Friday the thirteenth was offset by a four-leaved clover, a shamrock, carried in the plane.

After fighting storm, headwinds and fog in its flight from Dublin, the plane came down some 1,077 miles short of its destination, Mitchell Field, and far off its course, at noon yesterday. It had covered some 2,125 miles in 34 hours and 32 minutes, airline, and presumably much more when deviations from the course are considered.

The propeller was broken and the landing gear damaged. It was assumed that this occurred when the plane landed. It was regarded as impossible for the plane to have landed on the island itself, which is a little more than a square mile in area and it was assumed that the landing was made on the ice.

As soon as word was received from Baron Ehrenfried Gunther Von Huenfeld, flight sponsor and participant of the landing, preparations were made to bring him and his companions, Captain Hermann Koehl, German war flyer, and Commandant James Fitzmaurice of the Irish Free State Air Force, co-pilots, to New York. Junkers, sister of the Bremen, was ordered to fly from Mitchell Field to Greenly Island to enable the fliers to continue on to New York. The Canadian government patrol steamer Montcalm, now in the St. Lawrence river, wirelessly that she was proceeding at once some 200 miles to the island to take the flyers off. If the ship gets through, she will take the men to North Sydney, Nova Scotia.

Great Rejoicing

In two homes there was great rejoicing over the safety of the fliers. "Thank God! Oh, thank God!" Mrs. James Fitzmaurice, who had waited anxiously at Baldonnel airport, Dublin, said. In Berlin, Mrs. Hermann Koehl's voice shook with emotion when told of the landing, saying, "You can not imagine what a load you have taken off my mind."

On the flight Baron Von Huenfeld carried a four leaf clover as an omen of good luck and Fitzmaurice a little silver doll.

The shamrock was carried by Fitzmaurice last September when he

First Campaign Dinner Monday

The first campaign dinner for the Y. C. A. campaign workers Monday night promises to be a very enthusiastic one. The principal speaker will be Prof. William Keegan of the Poughkeepsie School of Poughkeepsie. The campaign singing will be in charge of "Mickie"—Miss Alice McLaughlin who led the singing so successfully last year and who can sing any song with more pep than any other leader in the community. The Y. C. A. Band of the Business Girls Club has volunteered to play the piano for all the singing during the week. Each and every team worker is expected to be present Monday evening to get the instructions from her captain and to learn the best way to "over the top" on Saturday night. Dinner will be served at 6:15.

Through an error, the following names were omitted from the published list of team workers: Miss Irene Lampman from Team 1 and Miss Edna Knappan from Team 9.

"Y" Auxiliary Annual Meeting

Officers and Committee Chairman Submit Reports—Fourteen New Members Welcomed—Officers Unanimously Elected.

The annual meeting of the Women's Auxiliary of the Y. M. C. A. was held on Friday afternoon. The devotion was in charge of Mrs. Charles Hicks. The treasurer, Miss Beulah Smith, reported annual receipts of $507.69, disbursements of $701.91 and balance to date $106.68.

The corresponding secretary, Mrs. L. S. Coe, reported letters written during the past year. The chairman of the house committee, Mrs. F. N. Hinds, reported supper served every week to the Y's Men's Club, Rotary and Kiwanis and to the Hi-Y. Board of Directors. Dinners served during the colored church campaign and the missionary drive; two camp community suppers at the Y. M. C. A.; one at the Y's Men's camp at Glencliff; steam valve workers and gas company; Virginia baked ham supper and luncheon to the Ulster County P. T. A. presidents at their conference in October.

Mrs. I. W. Satterlee, chairman of the junior boys' work reported 12 bean suppers served between January 12 and March 29, to an average of 40 boys each time. She thanked the women who had furnished cakes and assisted in the serving.

Mrs. George H. DuBois, chairman of the senior boys' work reported suppers served each week since October 5 to an average of over 40 Hi-Y boys, about eight Hi-Y girls setting and clearing the tables, waiting upon the boys and furnishing the dessert.

Mrs. E. O. Allen, chairman of the flower committee reported flowers sent upon the death of four members.

Mrs. C. R. Hall, chairman of the devotions reported the following having taken charge of the devotions during the year: Mesdames Frank Thompson, Justin Field, W. N. Fessenden, Grove Brown, W. R. Anderson, E. O. Allen, C. R. Hall and the Misses Lucinda Merritt and Alice Kierstead.

Miss Frances Osterhout, chairman of the program committee, reported a program furnished for each regular meeting.

Mrs. William S. Campbell, dormitory work chairman, reported 56 sheets, 27 pillow slips, seven towels and two table cloths mended by her committee, also 47 dish towels and nine dish cloths made and mended. Draperies had been mended for 16 dormitories and the lunch room by Mrs. Chester Buley, Mrs. Charles Buley and Mrs. John Porter. At the close of the meeting the dormitories were visited and found to be spotlessly clean and looking very attractive with their fresh paint and new curtains.

Mrs. F. N. Fessenden, reception committee chairman, reported that members from various churches had in turn taken charge of serving the refreshments at each meeting.

Fourteen New Members.

The recording secretary, Mrs. W. R. Anderson, reported 11 meetings held, the President, Mrs. W. A. Longyear, presiding at nine of them, the vice-president, Mrs. G. H. DuBois, presiding at the other two. Fourteen new members had been welcomed into the Auxiliary and the following five lost by death: Mrs. Conrad Davis, Mrs. E. J. McGiffert and Mrs. W. C. Kingman. The following persons have taken part in the programs: Vocalists, Mrs. Marion Crane Jones, Mrs. Nelson Smith, Mrs. Alvah Buley, Master Robert Van Valkenburgh and Mrs. Arthurmentals, Ethel May Jones, violinist; Master George Silkworth, cornetist; Miss Lucinda Merritt, pianist; Mrs. Alvah Buley and Miss Ruth Isherwood, mandolinists. Accompanists were Mrs. Stewart Jones, Mrs. Robert Hudler, Mrs. Clifford Van Valkenburgh, Mrs. L. S. Coe and Mrs. David Rodger of Richmond Hill. L. I. Master George Kent, the Misses Maud Hopper and Lucinda Merritt and Miss Virginia Everett of Ridgewood, N. J., have entertained with readings. Mrs. A. Noble Graham and Mrs. H. P. Van Wagoner each gave a charming account of her trip abroad.

count of her trip abroad. Mrs. A. L. Peckham of the Poughkeepsie and Mrs. Gordon Law of the Newburgh auxiliaries, both told about their work at the June meeting which was held at Echo Farm at Willow, the summer camp of Mr. and Mrs. Newton Fessenden, 31 members of the Poughkeepsie and Newburgh auxiliaries being guests. At the October meeting which was held at the Y's Men's Camp at Glencliff Falls, James Scott addressed the meeting, explaining the purpose of the purchase of the land and erection of the club house and their plan for paying for it. The auxiliary members agreed to sell bricks for the fireplace which they have been and are still engaged in. Secretary Porter has addressed the meeting at various times and upon varied subjects.

Last May about thirty members were entertained by the Poughkeepsie Auxiliary at a luncheon at J. Market Inn. On March 26, they were again entertained, being treated to a luncheon at the Nelson House, followed by a delightful violin and piano recital at the Poughkeepsie Y. M. C. A. and a splendid address on the boy and girl problem of today given by Dr. Douglas of Christ's Presbyterian Church. The Newburgh Auxiliary were also guests upon both occasions and all three auxiliaries gave reports of their year's work. On Columbus Day, 40 members of the Kingston Auxiliary with a large delegation from the Poughkeepsie Auxiliary were entertained at a buffet luncheon, after which they were invited to attend a sesquicentennial pageant at Recreation Park.

On April 21, the Auxiliary expects to serve a dinner to the state volleyball meet, on April 23 to the bowling championship meet, on May 4, the Father and Son Banquet, and on May 12 they are to serve luncheon for the spring conference of the Poughkeepsie district of the New York state congress of Parents and Teachers, which will be held in Kingston.

One of the biggest accomplishments of the Auxiliary this year has been the cooking and serving of numerous luncheons, suppers and banquets without the aid of a professional cook.

Officers Elected.

Mrs. John Van Nostrand, as chairman of the nominating committee, presented the following slate for the coming year: For president, Mrs. W. A. Longyear; first vice president, Mrs. W. N. Fessenden; second vice president, Mrs. G. H. DuBois; recording secretary and press chairman, Mrs. W. R. Anderson; corresponding secretary, Mrs. F. N. Hinds; treasurer, Miss Beulah Smith; pianist, Mrs. L. S. Coe. Mrs. E. O. Allen took the chair and conducted the election, all the officers being unanimously elected.

The President, Mrs. W. A. Longyear, who has recently returned from a two months' vacation in Florida, gave an interesting account of her trip. She left New York on the steamer Mohawk of the Clyde Line which she described as offering everything for comfort and amusement possible in the best home. They stopped for a day in Charleston, S. C. A colored band was playing when they landed. This was from an orphanage and a little boy seven years old was leader. They visited the Memorial cemetery where graves as is done here on Decoration Day. They left the steamer at Jacksonville and drove 270 miles in 12 hours through Daytona Beach, Orlando and other beautiful cities, through miles and miles of orange groves, to Tampa where they crossed the Gandy Bridge (seven miles long) into St. Petersburg where she spent most of her time while in Florida. She described the million dollar pier on Tampa Bay where the broadcasting station WSNL is located. There are balconies for fishing purposes and many benches where one may sit. She saw the Vinor Hotel which cost over three million dollars to build and the new Passaic Hotel, which as an advertising scheme, offered to come after tourists and transport them to the hotel for the day and furnish them with a regular course dinner for $2. The streets of St. Petersburg are 40 feet wide and the sidewalks eight to ten feet wide, are made of beautiful colored octagonal blocks of concrete. She saw the big parade, the festival of the states in which the New York state float took first prize. She attended the Baptist Tabernacle where during the week she heard wonderful concerts by choirs of colored young people. She showed a bouquet made of rice shells and chunberia seeds, very artistic and beautiful, also a collection of shells and snap shots. She returned to New York by auto passing through eight states. In Georgia acres of peach trees were in bloom. The weather was growing very warm so although Mrs. Longyear enjoyed her trip exceedingly she is happy to be once more at her home in Kingston.

Ellenville Will Enforce Fire Rule

Ordinance Requiring $300 Deposit By Out of Town Property Owners to Insure Fire Protection To Be Enforced.

A despatch from Ellenville to the New York Herald Tribune says:

Unless each property owner of Greenfield, Spring Glen and Briggs Street, summer resort suburbs of this village, deposits $300 with a local bank subject to a draft covering operating costs of the Ellenville Volunteer Fire Department, he can expect no further protection by the department. His home can burn to the ground, so far as C. G. A. Fisher, Fire Chief, and local village officials are concerned.

A precedent in the matter was established Sunday, when Chief Fisher refused to send his five-piece motorized organization to a fire in Briggs Street. The chief displayed so little interest in the matter that he was unable today even to recall whose property was destroyed Sunday. All home-town Ellenville fires will be fought as usual.

Old Ordinance Revived.

The enforcement of an old village ordinance requiring the $300 deposit to guarantee expenses was brought on by Chief Fisher's own recommendation. He has been active in volunteer fire organizations for forty-two years, and since his retirement from the dry goods and millinery business here he has had more time to devote to his hobby.

In the past, he admits, he has been willing to lead his organization to Glen Springs, Briggs Street or Greenfield, on any sort of fire, just for the satisfaction of fighting fire.

In the future, however, he "wouldn't" order out his department to fight the historic fire that destroyed Rome unless Caesar or some other responsible party guaranteed the expenses.

The three suburbs affected by the ordinance lie on higher ground than this village in the Delaware Valley. In the foothills of the Shawangunk Mountains operating expenses on fire departments are high. Chief Fisher pointed out, Greenfield, which has a population of about 300, lies four and a half miles from here and during the past year and a half has had five fires, to which the local department has responded. Briggs Street is three miles away, with a population of 200, and has had fewer fires. Spring Glen is about the same distance away, and has about the same population.

Summer Hotels Are Hazardous.

There are about twenty-five summer hotels in the three suburbs, and Chief Fisher insists that since they are such potential fire hazards they should also post forfeits. He admits that he has had many thrills leading his equipment to a midnight fire in the suburbs but says that he is cherishing his enthusiasm for fires out of respect for the wishes of the village officials, who believe in Coolidge economy, and his own business instinct.

It costs money to run fire departments to fires in non-paying suburbs, he has discovered; and neither he nor the village officials feel that Ellenville should bear the burden, even if such costs are incurred protecting property and amusing Chief Fisher. Hence the enforcement of the ordinance.

Great Musician and Wife Fond of Pets

When Mme. Vandervelde, wife of the Belgian statesman, was visiting the Paderewskis some years ago at their beautiful place on Lake Geneva, Paderewski, one evening after dinner, sat down at the piano and began to play Chopin.

"I was astonished," says Mme. Vandervelde in her book, "Monarchs and Millions," "when, at the first notes, a parrot flew across the room and alighted on the musician's right foot, which it appeared to me, must be a great hindrance to his use of the pedal. When he had finished playing, the parrot flew onto his shoulder, exclaiming, 'Good boy, good boy,' with great gusto."

Another surprise for Mme. Vandervelde came from Mme. Paderewski, who had a passion for chickens. At dinner one evening when everyone was dressed in his best, Mme. Paderewski received a whispered message. In great excitement she called for her overalls and rushed out of the room. Paderewski explained to his astonished guests that some new kind of chicken had been hatched out in the incubator, and that his wife simply had to be present on all such occasions.

ROMANCE LENDS HAND IN SEA TEST OF TELEVISION

Operator on Ocean Liner Sees His Fiances Appear Before Transmitter in London.

Brooklyn—Romance lent a helping hand to science during television tests aboard the Berengaria in midocean recently when, for the first time, a ship at sea was thus linked to shore.

Passengers on the ship distinctly saw persons appear before the transmitting apparatus in a London studio. Chief Radio Operator Stanley Brown of the Berengaria saw a great deal more than mere "persons." He recognized his fiancée, Miss Dora Selvey, by the characteristic way she wears her hair.

And in this manner the girl, who formerly lived for five years in America while she was employed by the Western Union as an operator, becomes the first person whose image has been sent from land to a ship in the middle of the ocean.

The mystic science of radio has figured largely in Miss Selvey's romance. She is an English girl who came to America about eight years ago to visit her aunt. On the way over on the liner Caronia she met Brown, who was a radio operator on the ship. He interested her in the radio and it was then that she remained in America for five years working for the Western Union as an operator.

Three years ago she decided to return to her home in London. She went on the Mauretania and, sure enough, Stanley Brown had been transferred to that ship as chief radio operator. Before the liner reached England they were engaged.

She is now employed with the British Telegraph company as an operator and agreed to take part in the television tests to the Berengaria, knowing her fiancée was chief radio operator on that ship.

Increased Noise Cuts Work, Inventor States

Brooklyn—Noise is increasing 100 per cent yearly in American cities and causes 20 per cent loss of efficiency to the average office worker, according to Dr. Hiram Percy Maxim, lieutenant commander in the United States naval reserve, who is working on plans for silencing riveters, subways and building machinery.

"I believe the worker who is earning $20 a week could, under quiet conditions, earn $25 a week with no greater expenditure of effort," he said. "There is no question but that the noise in our cities is a contributing factor in the increasing number of neurotics and cases of nervous breakdowns."

Doctor Maxim mentioned specifically the noises of traffic, including horns of automobiles, exhaust noises of cars and trucks, the riveting machine, the street car, and pulsating noises of many kinds of machines.

All these, he believes, would be eliminated or reduced to a fraction of their present intensity if the public were awakened to what they cost in health and money.

Music in Jails Leads Prisoners to Confess

Paris—Music is being played for the first time in the prisons of France with results that amaze the jailers. Within the few weeks since the entertainment was introduced thousands of letters have been written by prisoners to neglected families and friends and even to courts, confessing "the truth" and indicating repentance.

A test concert given for the children of La Roquette prison was responsible for the innovation. When Louis Barthou, minister of justice, read letters written by the children about the concert he wept and revoked an order that had stood for centuries prohibiting the entertainment of prisoners.

Now five concert artists of note play regularly in the penitentiaries in and around Paris, two violinists, a cellist, an organist with a portable organ and a woman singer. They play classical selections from the old music masters. They are unseen by their audience, which is forbidden to give applause. Songs often take the place of it.

Stolen Kiss Deadlocks Three California Juries

Redding, Calif.—The more or less successful attempt of a young man to steal a kiss has divided this community into factions so sharply outlined that three trials of the swain have resulted in jury deadlocks. Miss Octavia Hinford caused the arrest of H. L. Gimblin, alleging he had torn her dress and bruised her in attempting to kiss her. The first jury was discharged when it reported being hopelessly deadlocked, 11 to 1, presumably for conviction. The county prosecutor immediately decided upon another trial. The jury ended its deliberations in a 6-to-6 deadlock. The third trial ended with the same 6-to-6 deadlock.

Presbyterian Pastor in One Pulpit 54 Years

Salinas, Calif.—For more than fifty-four years Rev. George McCormick has preached from the pulpit of the United Presbyterian church here.

The little temple of worship was erected in 1873, and in all these years it has had only one pastor. Mr. McCormick came West in August of that year to accept a call extended him by a congregation composed mostly of United Presbyterians from Delaware county, New York.

WHITE PLAINS PASTOR DENOUNCES PROHIBITION

Prohibition is the most unintelligent, un-American, un-Christian, unreasonable thing that has ever been injected into the life of this nation, writes the Rev. Frederick Jerome Melville, pastor of St. Matthew's Lutheran Church of White Plains, New York, in the May issue of "Plain Talk."

"Prohibition is not what the church leaders intended it should be," says Pastor Melville. "Functioning abnormally," he writes, "it is injurious to the wellbeing of the individual and of the nation."

"The church—that is, the sections of the church that have labored so long and fanatically to make this country liquorless—still seems unwilling to admit that it has brought about a condition which is worse than any that existed in pre-prohibition days. Furthermore, it realizes that the cause is not a popular one any more. Can it even be said that the adherents of prohibition are still enthusiastic about it? If anything, they are gloomy, disappointed and afraid. Yet they hold on. They plead for support. They condemn, in language unbefitting followers of Jesus Christ, men and women who give expression to their honest opinions concerning prohibition. What a travesty when the people of this enlightened nation must be harangued

Flashes of Life Sketched in Brief

(By The Associated Press)

New York—Successful transatlantic flight to Brooklyn? An exhausted bird of the feather family was placed up in a band and put in care of the S. H. A. It is of a species native to western Europe.

Cracow, Poland—The eagle recently man's invasion of his domain. One attacked a passenger plane en route to Vienna. A wing of the plane was bent slightly. The eagle suffered the same fate as the mouse that dashed at a railroad train.

New York—Never will Betty Shellen have occasion to cheer for any football team but one representing Yale, where her dad, Tom, was a famous end. She is to marry Paul Morton Smith, now a sophomore at Yale and grandson of the late Paul Morton, who was secretary of the navy.

Mexico City—The Mexican Amazon's secret of 12 years is now revealed. For 13 years she fought as a private in the regular army calling herself Jose Burgos Brito. Her sex was disclosed when she was arrested for killing another soldier in a bar-room brawl.

New York—Geraldine Farrar seems to have inherited some baseball skill from her dad, once a big league ball player. Returning to the Metropolitan Opera as a member of the audience she received a remarkable ovation. To her in the orchestra was thrown a bunch of flowers from the stage. And she caught it and waved it triumphantly.

London—When there is real work in hand the boss of Persia gets right on the job. Advice from Dava tell of the Shah personally leading an expedition against revolting tribesmen. Meanwhile his son attends to such details as governing, being acting regent.

New York—A young man identifying himself as Enrico Caruso, Jr., son of the tenor, is in town looking for royalties, having come with an attorney on the liner Conte Grande. He says he has not received a cent from proceeds of canned music.

Stratford, Ont.—A good safe place for a good watch seems to be a coal pile. E. C. Sanderson, locomotive fireman, found one when firing his engine. The crystal was broken. The watch was keeping good time as Sanderson forwarded it to the owner at a Pennsylvania coal mine.

HIGH FALLS

High Falls, April 14.—The supper that was given by the Home Bureau Wednesday night in the lecture room of the Reformed Church was faultlessly served by the ladies. Immediately after the supper a play, "Keeping Him Home", was staged and was well received by a large audience. Mr. and Mrs. Todd kept the audience in fine humor. The cast was as follows: Jean Todd, Miss Evelyn Brown; Neal Morgan, William Hamlin; Mr. Todd, Jesse Barnhart; Mrs. Todd, Jesse Barnhart; Mrs. Sethby, Mrs. Jesse Adams; Mrs. Harkness, Mrs. Elton Parry. The musical part of the program was good. Andrew Szekely, who is an instructor of violin and piano of Pearl street, Kingston, gave several fine selections on the violin. There was a solo by Gansse Beach, solo by Mrs. Edward Muller of Stone Ridge and Harry Scarpati gave several selections on the mandolin. This play was planned and directed by Willard Adams and was a success both socially and financially.

Mr. and Mrs. William Farrell and Donald Farrell of New Jersey spent Easter Sunday with relatives in High Falls.

Miss Emily Davis of Newark spent Easter vacation with her sister, Mrs. Gansse Beach, returning home on Thursday.

Mr. and Mrs. William Fitzpatrick have returned to their home on Fairview after spending the winter in New York and Brooklyn with relatives.

Miss Carrie Slater of Briarcliff spent the Easter vacation at her home here.

Mr. and Mrs. L. Hoben, Mr. and Mrs. Young and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Farrell and son of Kingston spent Easter Sunday at the Farrell home.

Mrs. O'Brien has returned from New York to her home on Fairview. Friday night, April 27, the Kensington High School talent expects to give a play in the Reformed Church.

Mrs. Hubert Smith and daughter, Winifred, are spending the Easter vacation in Newark, N. J.

Miss Dorothy Butcher is the guest of her friend, Miss Harriet Church.

Mrs. Joetta Snyder of Kingston spent a short time with her sister, Mrs. Thomas Snyder, this week.

SAMSONVILLE.

Samsonville, April 14.—Mrs. William Chambers of Union Grove is visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Noah Barringer.

Peter Grieser and wife of Kingston, and Mrs. Ella Krum of this place spent Tuesday at the home of Mrs. Jerry Keator of Palentown.

Master Frank Barringer, young son of J. Barringer, is very sick. Edna Davis spent Sunday at Burnside with her brother, Merritt, and family.

E. Van Etten spent Easter with his sister, Mrs. G. D. Alsdorf, of Walden.

Gussie Beesmer spent Tuesday of this week at the home of her brother, J. Beesmer.

A. Haver spent Sunday with friends in Walden.

Leona Shurtler and sister, Ella, spent the week end at their home.

Sympathy is extended to Wilson Gray and family in the loss of wife and mother.

D. C. Van Etten is working a few days at Cold Brook.

Mr. Editor: Dear Sir: Will you allow me a space in your paper to thank Mrs. S. C. DeWitt, the evangelist of the New York Annual Conference of the African Methodist Episcopal Church and a religious worker of the City of Kingston and Ulster county. The officials of the church join in heartily with me in thanking her for the service rendered by her, during the Holy Week. There were two conversions, the membership was revived spiritually. Mrs. DeWitt left us Sunday to fill an engagement at Coxsackie, N. Y., in the Bethel A. M. E. Church at 8 p. m. The officers and member of St. Peter's A. M. E. Church of Douglass, L. I. N. Y., gladly recommend her to any pastor for religious services.

Respectfully submitted, Rev. A. L. HUGHES, Pastor. Officials: Randolph Walker, Preschers Steward Charles Bank Samuel Woods, Secretary. Mrs. Gertrude Water. Mrs. Anna Treadwell.

"Springtime, Our Hope Time. Winter's gone, and I'm admitting That I do not care one bit, And I'll add though 'tis not fitting I am really glad of it.

For the winter tends to sadness, And we need to have the spring With the greenness and its gladness, And its happy birds on wing.

When it comes we're not regretful— Spring is not a time to mope! Of past failures we're forgetful, As we start renewed in hope.

Oh, best spring! we'd surely falter, And give up in deep despair, Did you not our outlook alter, And bring strength to do and dare.

Teacher: "Why were you late?" Johnny: "Because they rang the bell before I got here."

Spring will soon be here; let's make Kingston not only the best town in the state but the best looking.

Two men sat on a railroad track, consoling each other. One's wife had died—the other's hadn't.

Artist: "I hope you don't mind me coming to sketch in your field, farmer."

Farmer: "Oh, no. You keep the birds off the peas better'n any ornery scarecrow."

April showers bring May flowers. But what do April snows bring?

A little more kindness, A little less creed, A little more giving, A little less greed, A little more smile, A little less frown, A little less kicking, A man when he's down, A little more "we," A little less "I," A little more laugh, A little less cry, A little more flowers, On the pathway of life, And fewer on graves At the end of the strife.

A man and wife were hotly discussing the merits of a book. Finally the wife, herself an author, said to her spouse, "No, John, you can't appreciate it. You never wrote a book yourself."

"No," retorted John, "and I never laid an egg, but I'm a better judge of an omelet than any hen in the state."

Personality is something else born, not made.

We're glad the two-legged cat doesn't have nine lives.

We often wish Sinclair Lewis would write a book on wife's relatives.

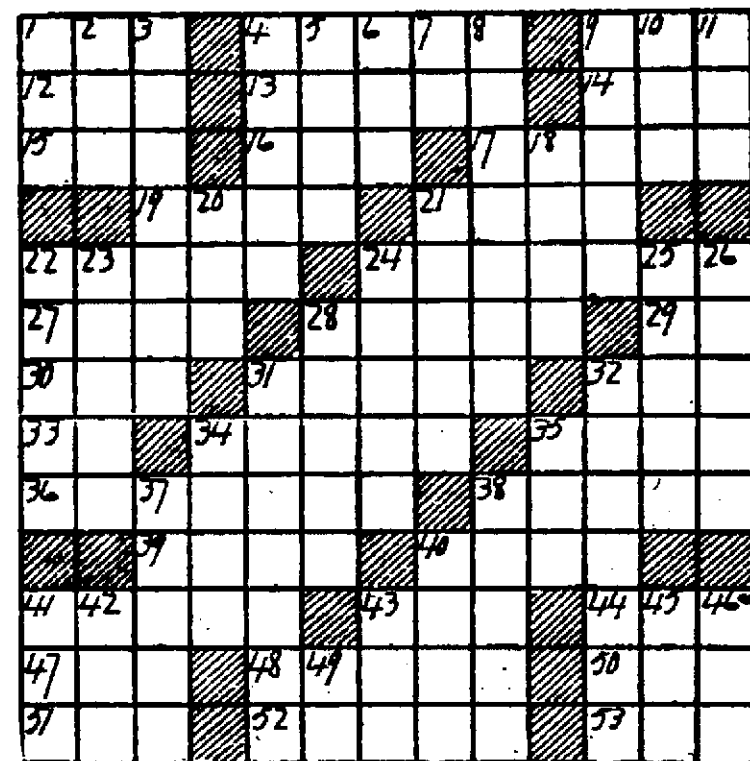

There are still plenty of old fashioned women who can't tell a Camel from a Chesterfield.

WHAT SHALL I DO FOR ACID STOMACH?

The ability to eat without suffering stomach pains, or other discomfort, caused by a too acid stomach, is one of the joys of life. This does not imply that a man should be privileged to overeat or to eat articles of food which, because his system does not need them, will generate gas and acids and poisons within one's stomach. It simply means that a person is fortunate if he has a good stomach, so that proper foods in proper amounts may be caught and enjoyed. In fact, a good digestion is necessary if one is to gain energy from the food which he eats.

No person can have a normal stomach and good digestion and be free from an excess of acid when there is a derangement of the stomach nerves. The stomach being entirely controlled and regulated by the nervous system, it is only logical to look to the nervous system when suffering from an "acid stomach" or other stomach trouble. Chiropractors are specially trained in handling conditions of the nervous system—and this is why they have given such good results in cases of "acid stomach."

The two cases described below are but further proof that Chiropractic Gets Results!

General Health Much Improved.
"For a number of years I suffered from sluggish liver and indigestion. I tried many things, with no appreciable results, before I was advised to try Chiropractic. I can now say that my general health from day to day is excellent and my physical condition much improved." The Rev. J. H. Barnes, Chiropractic Research Bureau Statement No. 1314-H.

Chronic Nervous Dyspepsia Is No Longer Present.
"For a period of five months, attacks of nervous dyspepsia made life a nightmare. I took every form of treatment without relief until I tried Chiropractic. I am more healthful today than ever before." L. Kiarman, Chiropractic Research Bureau Statement No. 1231-C.

PHONE 778 FOR APPOINTMENT

Our success is due to our policy of never accepting cases that we cannot benefit.

In addition to the training received at the world's most prominent Chiropractic institution, supplemented by thirteen years' actual practice and observation, we have originated and are today using a system of positive treatment which is a distinct advance over methods commonly in use.

Canada Able to Handle Situation.

Washington, April 14 (AP)—Feeling that Canada was well able to handle the situation, officials of the United States expressed the view today that it would be inadvisable for American ships to go unaccompanied to the aid of the crew of the Bremen at Greenly Island.

French Filers Complete Trip.

Paris, April 14 (AP)—Dieudonne
Coster and Joseph Lebriz, French cruisers, completed their great world circumnavigation today, landing at Le Havre at 6:13 p. m. in the midst of a tumultuous welcome.

Financial and Commercial

New York, April 14 (AP)—Confused price movements characterized today's brief session of the market, pronounced bearishness of many of the industrial shares being offset by a resumption of aggressive buying operations in pool specialties, a score of which reached new high ground.
Trading was not quite as brisk as in the preceding days of the week.

Week-end profit-taking and uncertainties over the credit situation were principal factors in the selling movement. Wall Street again began to express concern over the possibility of another increase in federal reserve discount rates, due to the recent stiffening of time money and bankers' acceptances, further excesses of gold and increasing commercial demands for funds.

An opening break of five points in General Motors instead of the expected big opening at a new high, helped to chill speculative enthusiasm. Selling pressure was quite pronounced against U. S. Steel Common, General Electric, Consolidated Gas, Radioactive and some of the other recent favorites.

The closing was heavy. Total sales approximated 1,750,000 shares.

Konchina-Pultz Fight at Armory Ends in a Draw

Main Bout Not as Fast as Expected
By Local Fans—Held Best Forbes in Tough Match—Van Buren Brothers Win in Lively Bout.

Approximately 500 fans saw Frankie Konchina, middleweight champion of the National Guard, and Oscar Pultz of the 22nd Engineers battle to a draw in the eight-round feature of the American Legion boxing show, under the auspices of the First Battalion, 155th Field Artillery, at the armory Friday night.

Stanley Reid of Newburgh, who subdued Tommy Karakos now suffering from an injured hand, got the decision over George Forbes of the 26th Infantry of New York city in one six round affair, while Joe Grant of the 36th beat Stanley Stevens, heavy-hitting Newburgh battler, in another sextet of stanzas.

Eddie Mays of the 36th Infantry of New York scored a technical kayo over Frenchy Duiz of this city in the opening four rounder. In the second quartet of stanzas on the bill Dewey Van Buren beat Oscar Bernard of the 36th and Roy Van Buren beat Enrico Savardo of the 102nd Medical Regiment after a four round tilt.

The Konchina-Pultz affair was a tough grind for both men, who used everything they had in an effort to score a knockout. Konchina started the battle in his usual manner, by landing a heavy right on Pultz at the outset of the tilt. Pultz took the blow unflinchingly and for the rest of the scrap none of Konchina's many blows told heavily on his adversary.

Pultz, who lost a previous battle to Konchina, used both hands to a good advantage but could not get the desired haymaker to land effectively. Much clinching marked the affair especially in the seventh. The eighth and final round, although a period when each fighter tried to score a decisive win, was not marked by much action.

The officials were George Hepburn, referee; Bill Singer and Joe Daley, judges, and Richard Malone, timer. Sam Riber did the announcing in fine style.

The next card of bouts will be staged at the armory on May 11. Whether Jack "Red" Moshier, who was introduced from the ring, will go on, is not known. He appeared to challenge the winner of the main bout which ended in a draw.

HUPS BEAT PORT EWEN IN THIRD EXTRA PERIOD

The Hummobile quintet of this city defeated the Port Ewen quintet 28-27 at Pythian Hall, Port Ewen, Friday night in three extra five minute periods. The toughest battle ever seen at the village hall brought the season to a close for both clubs. The winning shot for the Hups was registered by Fred Buchholtz, who crossed the leather through the hoops from a position three quarters the length of the court.

Sporting Squibs

Teens threaten to pass cricket in popularity in New Zealand.

From 1870 to 1880, inclusive, Yale never lost to Harvard at football.

On the University of Illinois basket ball team is a forward named Cann. And another named How.

Frank Longberry was re-elected to captain the Fordham basket ball team through next year, at a meeting of the letter men.

Gus Feyer, one of the Florida university tennis team, is considered a good bet to win the national intercollegiate singles.

Captain Swain of the Indiana wrestling team is being boosted as an Olympic wrestling candidate by following at his school.

George Quinn, unarmored wizard of the handball courts, has held the Class A singles championship of the Minneapolis Athletic club for the past 10 seasons.

Light harness racing experienced the most successful season in the United States in 1927. Purses exceeding $500,000 were raced for on the Grand Circuit.

Ruth Hutchins, captain of the Griffith high school girls' basket ball team in Minneapolis, edged 53 baskets for a total of 106 points against a rival team recently.

Man Mountain Munn has been working with the Princeton eleven. Tunny will lecture on Shakespeare at Yale. We suggest Harvard hire Strangler Lewis.

A Monte Carlo dispatch to the continental edition of the London Daily Mail says that Helen Wills, California tennis star, intends to play at the Monte Carlo tournament.

Bill Scott, presiding genius of the Baltimore Country club and Five Farms course, is the eldest of four brothers, all of whom are actively engaged in the ancient sport.

One of Canada's hopes in the next Olympic marathon is Percy Wier, forty-two-year-old runner of the Monarch club, who has turned in consistently fine performances.

Walter Pursey, Pacific Northwest open title holder, has made four holes in one during his golfing career. Two were made in England, one in India and the last in Victoria, B. C.

Alexa Stirling, the present Mrs. Fraser, is a product of the schooling of Stewart Maiden, the Carnoustie Scot, who is considered responsible for the wizardry of Bobby Jones.

Lucien Richard, France's best professional bicycle sprinter and Olympic winner in 1924, is regarded as the most popular athlete in France. Rene Lacoste, the tennis champion, ranks second.

Lord Mann, America's premier runner, would like to go abroad two or three weeks before the Olympic games in Amsterdam in July and finish up his training in England for the 800 and 1,500-meter runs.

Tagging Major League Bases

(By The Associated Press.)

Followers of the St. Louis Browns today perceived visible effect in the recent general house-cleaning. It was observable in three consecutive victories over the Detroit Tigers.

Although the Browns were more than a disappointment to the fans last season, at no time during the fight, they are off to a good start in the present campaign with the distinction of being the first club to capture a series and record a string of three triumphs. To a certain extent they have re-established confidence that they will participate actively in the ensuing championship.

Manager Howley's band of youngsters which have replaced the "old order" tripped the Tigers in their own fair yesterday by 4 to 2, coming from behind in the ninth to tie the count and then put over the deciding run in the eleventh.

Of eleven home runs batted out in the major leagues yesterday, six were at Philadelphia where the Yankees defeated the Athletics 8 to 7. Columbia Lou Gehrig, of the home run firm of Ruth and Gehrig, recorded homer No. 1 of the championship. Combs, Meusel and Coghane also connected for the full distance while Joe Hauser went "on one better by banging two homers.

Rommel was the victim of Gehrig's lengthy swat, the ball crashing through a second story window of a house across from the ball park. Rommel was followed on the mound by Bing Johnson and Ossie Orville who made his debut in the big leagues. Moore, Shealy and Hoyt worked in the box for the Yanks.

Despite a pair of home runs thumped out by Phil Todd, the Sox bowed before the Senators, 4 to 2. Washington batters hit in the fourth and fifth innings to secure five runs. Zackary and Branton batted for the visitors and were opposed by Wilton and Suttle.

Grady Adams, right-handed pitcher from St. Louis, pitched the Chicago White Sox to a ball tie with the Indians, the game being halted by rain after six innings. Adams was wild but successfully retired his rivals twice with the bases loaded.

With their famous Garrison finish, the Giants rallied in the eighth with a five-run splurge to defeat the Braves, 7 to 5. Andy Cohen slashing a double with the bases filled to score two runners. Joe Genewich was chased to the showers during the fatal eighth. Tiny Chaplin started for the Giants but was succeeded by Cantwell and Dutch Henry.

The speedball king, Dazzy Vance, of the National League, stopped the Phillies with five hits as Brooklyn carried off its first triumph of 1928 by 5 to 1. Blantonette and Hendrick drove out four-batters for the Robbings.

Ray Benge, formerly of Waco, made his first big league start with the Phils, going the route.

Behind the sterling pitching of Art Nehf, the Chicago Cubs turned on the Reds scoring a 2 to 0 shutout. Nehf, who at one time twirled for McGraw, yielded only six hits, the same number distributed by his opponent, Kolp, who was the victim of bingles by his teammates.

The Cardinals-Pirates clash was postponed on account of rain.

CHANDLERS HAVE CLOSED THEIR BASKETBALL SEASON

The Chandler basketballers have put their uniforms away until next season. They were rather anxious to play a "rubber" game with the Red Shields this year but no agreement could be reached as to a neutral court. They have enjoyed a very successful season and feel that next year they will do even better. They played 45 games and out of these won 26. Two of their losses were received in the national tournament.

at Cincinnati, two to Port Ewen, one to the Red Shields, one to Poughkeepsie, one to the Catskill High School, and one to the Kingston High School, and one to Fleischmanns. The biggest score against them in all their losses was the local High game in which they lost by ten points. They later turned around and took a fall out of the high school by five points on their own floor.

A LITTLE TROUBLE

By DOUGLAS MALLOCH

NOTICE a dog has his troubles too. His little spats with the neighborhood cats.

A fight now and then with a dog that's new in the neighborhood—just like we folks do.

For people rock with their rocking chairs. They squeeze their claws and they hurt his paws. We have our troubles, and dogs have theirs.

There isn't a thing but has its care. I guess the Lord must have understood. What we didn't know: that a little wee.

Though it seems to hurt, does us both more good. Than ever a life too easy would. That must be why that He fixed it thus.

Gave dogs their cares and gave people theirs. The good Lord knows, though we fret and fume, A little trouble is good for us.

SOMETHING TO THINK ABOUT

By F. A. WALKER

SIMPLICITY
A YOUNG lady reader has asked us to write something about simplicity. Perhaps she is that rarity among modern women who has grown tired of the tinsel and show of the life of today and wants to hear about something less complicated—something more after the fashions and thoughts of our grandmothers' times.

But we are not going to write of simplicity in dress, or simplicity in social customs. We are going to refer, the young lady to three things which seem in all the world's complications to be the best examples of simplicity that we can think of.

First we ask her to consider a child. Jesus said, "Suffer little children to come unto me for of such are the Kingdom of Heaven." The great teacher did not mean that heaven was peopled by little ones. But he did mean that the minds of those who had attained supreme happiness had the simplicity, the goodness, the love, the trustfulness which is characteristic of the child.

Study the mind of a child and you will marvel at the simplicity and directness of its reasoning. Innocence is not necessarily ignorance any more than ignorance is necessarily innocence.

The simplest man who ever lived was Jesus Christ. His occupation of carpenter was as modest as any of His time. But by His recorded words are best shown the simplicity of His thoughts. What prayer could be simpler than the one which He left for all mankind to repeat? What sermon could be more direct than His masterly utterance on the Mount? What could be more comprehensible than the parables by which He taught? And what more grandly simple than those last words upon the cross, "It is finished?"

The most forcible words of all languages are the simplest. Take the three words in English most frequently used—"I," "Yes," "No." How short and simple they are.

Walt Whitman, one of the few Americans who may be called a philosopher without misusing the word, said, "The art of arts, the glory of expression and the sunshine of the light of letters, is simplicity."

He was talking about simplicity in writing—a necessity for GOOD writing. When you write or when you speak choose short simple words, words that you thoroughly understand and that your readers or hearers will easily comprehend.

Be simple in your manners. The most gracious and the most polite are the simplest.

Be simple in your tastes. Be simple in your actions. Be simple in your thoughts. The world may know you less, but it will love you better.

PLOT BOMB AIMED AT KING AND DUCE MISSES

Alleged plots against King Victor Emmanuel and Premier Mussolini of Italy resulted in the loss of fourteen lives at Milan. A bomb was exploded in Place Julius Cesare, Milan, just before the king's arrival to inaugurate a trade fair, and Benne reported a bomb found on the railroad tracks near Como, Italy, where Mussolini's train was to pass.

What Society Does and Wears

Engagement Announcements Feature the "Little Season"—Rainbow Ball and Carnival of Imagination Provide Entertainment—Pajama Suits for Seashore.

New York, April 14 (AP).—Engagement announcements were social New York's piece de resistance during the first week of the "Little Season," which began with Easter week. Society's leaders have vied with each other in entertainment for those concerned. A box at the opera, loaned for an evening by Mrs. O'Brien, was an unusual courtesy extended to Mrs. Betty Teller, whose engagement to Walter Gurnee Dyer was announced. Miss Teller entertained a party of friends in the box where she held an informal reception between acts.

Bridge parties, always a popular diversion of the "Little Season," have been put to work by Mrs. William B. Leeds (Princess Xenia) and other social leaders. Bridge tournaments, which society attended on board the Herengaria this week, were given in aid of the Central Council of Seamen's Associations to provide clothing, books and entertainment for seamen. Marine refreshments and decorations were features.

Wardrobes for the shore are now as carefully planned by fashionable women as evening costumes. Pajama suits with long pointed trousers of chiffon in bright checks, worn with black chiffon coats are fashionable for lounging on the beach. A different bathing suit is required for each day, while other suits for taking sun baths are carefully cut so that the décolleté of the lowest evening gowns will not reveal an inch of skin untanned.

"Peter Rabbit," "Circus Clowns," and "Jack and the Beanstalk" amused the small guests at the Easter party with which the Junior League entertained the children of its members last week. Sue Hastings' marionettes gave the pantomimes for the children. Mrs. Kermit Roosevelt was in charge of the party which concluded with an Easter egg hunt.

A rainbow ball is society's latest benefit plan for the aid of crippled children. Rainbow lights played over the guests, rainbow balloons, and dancers costumed in colors of the spectrum will be features of the carnival entertainment to be given next week.

Isis, Egyptian goddess of spring, King Tut, and Pharaoh's Daughter were features of a pageant representing the festival of spring at the carnival of imagination this week. Dancing girls, slaves and priests took part. The carnival, held at the Waldorf Astoria, in an Egyptian Temple setting, was given for working girls in need of financial aid.

Colored motion pictures of a "Midsummer Night's Dream" attracted society to the entertainment given by the American Shakespeare Foundation at the Hotel Drake. Shakespearean readings were given by Southern and Marlowe. Proceeds were for the benefit of the Shakespeare Memorial Theatre at Stratford-on-Avon. Mrs. Vincent Astor and Mrs. August Belmont were among the patronesses.

Lace coats, the "dernier cri" in evening wraps, will be exhibited in the fashion review at the Magic Carpet-Society's charity carnival to be given for the benefit of the Judson Health Center next month. The wraps of beige or black lace have several linings of pastel shaded chiffon, any one of which may be snapped into the coat to suit the wearer's fancy.

Her "Beanstalk" Legs Made Hit of Evening

Emma Calve of Carmen fame, in the early days of her operatic career, was very slender. Her "beanstalk" legs—as she calls them in her memoirs "My Life"—gave her grave concern. To overcome that defect, on the first night of "Noces de Figaro" at Brussels, she hit upon the brilliant plan of swelling her calves by padding them.

"The old gentlemen in the front rows trained their glasses on these superb affairs," recalls Calve. "I was conscious of their attention and proud of my success until I left the stage at the end of my first scene."

In the wings she found the infuriated director.

"Don't you know that every one is laughing at you?" he shouted. "Take those hideous lumps off instantly."

And for the second act poor Calve had to make her entrance with her "beanstalk legs all unadorned."

"I tried to cover them with my cloak, but it was impossible. My mortification was intense. The audience saw the change instantly, and was highly amused. I was applauded and cheered uproariously."

Talips and Daffodils

In tulip culture the removal of the flowers as they fade is necessary, but in daffodil culture there is no such imperative requirement, although there seems to be a difference of opinion in this case.

Modes in Dresses Are Conservative

Innovations of Other Days Toned Down to Satisfy Good Taste.

All the features of the winter's fashions are entirely new, but the manner of adapting and combining them has given many different versions to the mode. Chemise silhouettes, knee-length skirts, nude décolletés, long-length waist lines and geometric patterns are being carried over from other seasons; but whereas they created sensations when they first came in, and in many cases were regarded as freakish, they are now being taken as a matter of course. They are only being toned down to accord with a finer and more conservative standard of taste.

The fashionable slim silhouette has grown only a little slimmer and the waistline has changed only in individual instances, to be faithful to the costume of a period, but almost everything else has swung from the extreme back to the more moderate styles. Skirts are decidedly longer and bodices are cut higher. Now and then an evening gown in the very height of the fashion is made extremely low at the back, but even then it has less décolleté in front. The neck line is a "matter of choice," the latter will tell you, and likewise one of becomingness, for round, square or V is equally smart.

The novelty in neck lines is to have them uneven, as is the case in most afternoon or semi-formal evening gowns, in which one side of the bodice front is made longer than the other. This arrangement is quite charming when the neck is finished with lace drawn to the closing line to form a cascade, or with one of the handsome lace collars that are now made in this shape. No one appears to know which one of the French designers originated this style of neck, but most of fashionable Paris and Manhattan has now copied it.

Longer Skirts.

The longer skirt has been accomplished somewhat diplomatically; not all at once, but in a number of models with drapery arranged to drop low at irregular spaces, or with points and scallops and ruffling godets, giving the effect of length. The shock caused by the first knee-length skirt has long ago worn away, and it has been so generally accepted that the boot-top hemline seems positively dowdy, and only a clever couturier is able to give it any degree of chic.

The outstanding skirt of the season is that with a hem that drops lower at the back than the front. Louise Boulanger introduced this style two years ago with her panniers and modern version of the bustle, but it was regarded as erratic and was accepted by only the few who go in for extreme designs. This season this model has been tremendously fashionable. It is reproduced by many modistes, and Boulanger herself has created some charming variants of her own ideas.

A striking one has just been made by Madame Boulanger—an evening gown of ombre crepe georgette. The skirt itself is plain, ending just below the knee, and the bodice, which is cut in a deep point back and front, is also plain, showing to advantage the shaded tints of its material from pale to vivid green. A strip of the goods is laid in folds around the waist and from this hang just across the back long, floating panels of the shaded georgette. These hang over at the top, forming loops in which is mixed a touch of bright blue, and the panel ends are finished in rounded points that almost touch the floor.

An evening dress that is refreshingly youthful has a slip of pink satin which Madame Boulanger has veiled with black net figured with large black disks. Black net is wound about the waist and hangs to the floor in a full panel across the back. It is one of the most difficult among all the late styles, and requires much skill in treatment to give it distinction. Several couturiers have done some exceedingly clever models on these lines; conspicuously Dorellet, whose arrangement of drapery and detail is remarkably original.

Variable hem lines are a novelty that has intrigued the fancy of some of the best-known designers, who have created some delightful gowns of the more elaborate sort for afternoon and evening. Dorellet's conception is shown in a clever little dress of blue chiffon, which is made of two shades and put together subtly with soft flounces that fall in swaying lines longer at one side of the skirt. The bodice, to which it is joined with alternating hands, has a round neck, and is décolleté and sleeveless.

Dorellet offers two evening gowns in this mode. In one of white taffeta the skirt is made in two circular tiers that flare at the sides and dip at the back. A little fan of the same silk is added at each side of the front, being slipped under the bodice, which blouses slightly over a bit of a girle ornamented with a rhinestone bar.

All Black the Vogue.

The passion for all-black in which Paris indulges now and again is sharply illustrated by Dorellet in a little dance frock of black tulle, which has two full flounces that are lifted high at one side of the front. Two bands of black satin ribbon are drawn around the bottom of the plain, "easy" fitting bodice, low at the back and up

An Afternoon Frock With Novel Back Drapery by Louise Boulanger.

In front, outlining the figure. The ribbon trims the square neck and is tied so as to hang in loops and long ends down the back.

There are other interesting models in all black to which American women always respond with enthusiasm. Much net and tulle are used for evening, and more satin and velvet for handsome daytime gowns. This is regarded by designers and shopkeepers as a velvet season, and some of the most important costumes, gowns, wraps and hats show the beauty of texture and finish of the new sheer, lustrous weaves.

Beaded Gowns Popular.

Beaded gowns we have with us so usual, only in more artistic treatment. The all-over mermaid dress of past years and the spangled robe have long been out of fashion, and the newest version is a delicately patterned creation of crystal beads, paillettes or rhinestones on net over satin. The beading of these gowns has become a fine art, and the latest models, particularly those from American artists, are very lovely.

The dipping back in these has an amusing fish-tail effect. The silhouette is closely clinging; a frilly plating of one or more bouffes of sheer stuff is used around the bottom. In the newest of these beaded and paillette gowns the pattern is worked out with fine details, but in others the gown is all black, or dazzling white with a large brilliant design on the bodice and upper part of the skirt.

Some of the contributions by Worth to the season's gowns, made in the velvets and satins for which the house is famous, illustrate the movement toward the back of drapery and trimming. One of pale gold satin has its front in a two-piece design, but princess in effect; while the back dips in a sharp point to the heel from a large bow of the same material arranged on one hip.

Among Worth's other creations is a black velvet gown embroidered in rhinestones, silver and crystal; one of heavy satin is a blue-white tone—Worth's favorite among new evening shades; one in absolute green satin and tulle, and a regal costume of Burgundy velvet. In all of these sharp contrasts appear in the irregular hemline of the skirts.

It is only at formal evening affairs that the brilliant evening gown of lace and jewel embroidery is seen in all its splendor. One of the newest and most attractive of beaded evening frocks seen recently in Paris was of silver, with its simple-draped, very long bodice and skirt, flaring skirt made of tiny silver beads, set so close that the effect was that of lace.

Exquisite Tray Cloths

Truly lovely for breakfast in bed are tray cloths of the sheerest handkerchief linen in pastel shades, with a design of white or a contrasting linen applied to the surface with tiny hand hemstitching. One napkin is included in the set.

Wasted Effort

Heien, age seven, was taking music lessons. One afternoon she was invited to attend the Junior matinee musicale. A friend of hers, who was a few years older, was to play a selection on the piano.

When she returned home after the musicale, her mother said, "How did Kath get along? Did she play well?"

"Well, it sounded to me as if she made lots of mistakes—lots of them. I don't believe she had practiced very long on the piece she played," said Heien seriously. "But," she added, "I do not know whether she played the piece right. The audience clapped just as if she had. What's the use of practicing so much if they do not know the difference?"

Paint Top and Bottom

In order to last, shelves should be protected with paint or varnish on the bottom as well as the top and sides. Decay is no respecter of surfaces, and will attack and wear away one side as well as another. Therefore, it is best to paint or varnish the entire shelf as soon as it is put up.

THE AUTOMOBILE AS IT WAS TWENTY-FIVE YEARS AGO

Production of a "new four cylinder car with three speeds forward and reverse, with the cylinders cast in pairs" featured the spring announcement of the Packard Motor Car Company—in 1903. That eventful year also saw the adoption of the now familiar Packard slogan, "Ask the man who owns one." These interesting highlights of motordom's early history were brought out in connection with the twenty-fifth anniversary of the Packard Motor Car Company of New York.

The 1903 Packard was the sensational model "L," upon which the subsequent sales and manufacturing policy of the Packard Company was established. At the time of this car's introduction, what was then the automobile industry was engaging in its first price war. The cry was for more and cheaper cars, greater profits, and new models each year. Several leaders in the Packard camp favored joining the fracas, but H. B. Joy, then president of the company, insisted on quality construction rather than quantity production. He carried the day and, by the evident superiority of its model "L," Packard took the place that it has since maintained so successfully in the forefront of the quality group of motor cars.

It is noteworthy that, as contrasted with present day motor car values, this early Packard cost $3,500, approximately the price of today's Packard eight, and over a thousand dollars more than the present six.

Motor car owners in those early days were strong boosters for the cars of their choice, but no automobile had such markedly enthusiastic partisans as the Packard, and the company's earliest advertisements had taken quick advantage of this vociferous owner endorsement. But in 1903 the catchline, "Ask the Man Who Owns One," became the official slogan of the company, and formed the theme of the model "L" advertising.

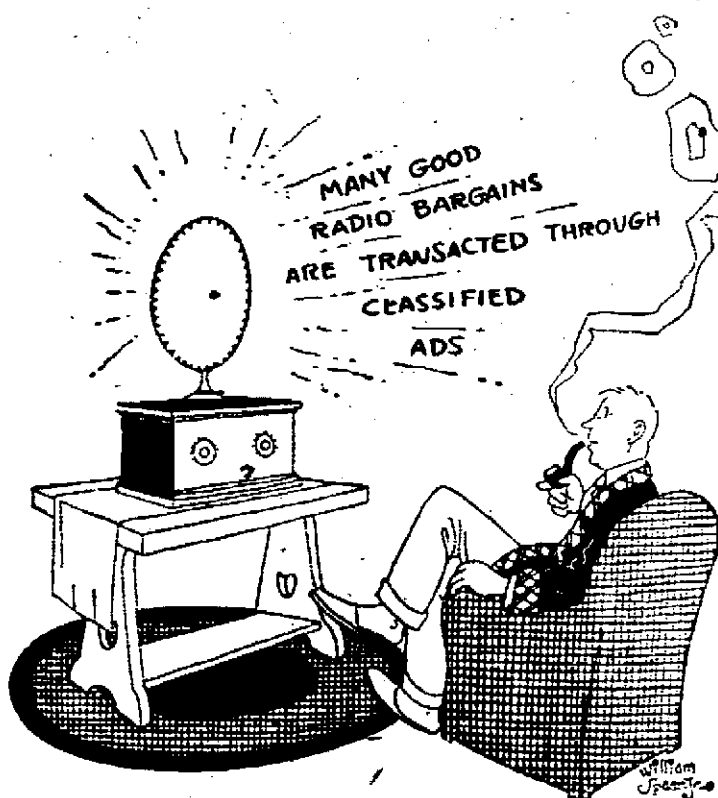

The model "L" had been evolved from model "K," an experimental car of the year previous built on the lines of the most advanced European four cylinder productions. The 1902 car simplified the construction, eliminating much of the unwieldiness and complexity of the "K" model, and adding many new improvements of its own. It featured rear axle transmission and a steering wheel and carried what was probably the first bevel gear propeller shaft drive on an American built car.

An interesting comparison with that sturdy 1903 Packard is formed by the luxurious Packard of today, with its single shot lubrication, engine, brakes, and chassis construction features, and its other manifold improvements, as embodied in the sixes and eights on display at the Open Car Show of the Packard Motor Car Company of New York. The old and new, each the leader in its day, serve aptly to illustrate how far the automobile industry has progressed in the last quarter century. "The world do move."
